

1993-94: 008

McGILL
CENTRE FOR RESEARCH AND TEACHING ON WOMEN

PLEASE POST / ANNOUNCE TO YOUR CLASSES

MCRTW SPEAKER'S SERIES (FALL 1993)

SUSAN SHERWIN

Professor of Philosophy and Women's Studies
Dalhousie University

"THE ETHICAL SIGNIFICANCE OF METAPHORS: A FEMINIST PERSPECTIVE ON AIDS"

Thursday, November 11th, 1993
3:30 - 5:00 p.m.
Birks Building, Common Room
3520 University Street

Susan Sherwin earned her B.A. (Hons) in Mathematics and Philosophy from York University, Toronto (1969) and her Ph.D. in Philosophy from Stanford University, Stanford, California (1974). Her dissertation was on the topic of "Moral Foundations of Feminism". In 1974, she joined the Department of Philosophy at Dalhousie University, where she has been Professor of Philosophy and Women's Studies since 1990. Professor Sherwin is the author of No Longer Patient: Feminist Ethics and Medicine (1992) and co-editor of Moral Problems in Medicine (Second Edition, 1983) and Health Care Ethics in Canada (forthcoming 1994). She has written numerous book chapters, monographs, and articles on feminist ethics, women's health issues and reproductive technologies; titles include, "Feminism and Bioethics (In press: 1994), "Feminism and Moral Relativism (1991), "Feminist Ethics and New Reproductive Technologies (1989), and "Women's Health Issues: A Feminist Perspective" (1987). She is the winner of a SSHRC Strategic Research Network Grant in Applied Ethics (1993-96).

This lecture is co-sponsored with the Department of Philosophy, Concordia University and The Simone de Beauvoir Institute, Concordia University.

+

INFO BULLETIN

MCRTW
3487 PEEL STREET
SECOND FLOOR
MONTREAL, QUEBEC
H3A 1W7

TEL: (514) 398-3911